

ABAZABA SCOOPY DOOBY

Words and Music by Linda Arnold

Once upon a time it was an ordinary day

I went to the land of Make Believe to play

I met a little goblin with a cap upon his head

He sat down beside me and this is what he said

CHORUS:

“Abazaba-scooby-dooby-apa-chooka-maka-yeah!

Abazaba scooby dooby.”

What a silly thing to say

“Abazaba-scooby-dooby-apa-chooka-maka-yeah!

If you're ever in a pickle

This is all you need to say.”

Well, I thanked the little goblin

And I watched him walk away

And I had a funny feeling it was not a normal day

I thought about his smile, I thought about his face

I thought I'd better practice that word just in case

Then oh so suddenly what should I see

But a huge rhinoceros charging at me

My heart was pounding, I was full of dread

So, I opened up my mouth, and this is what I said

CHORUS

Then suddenly a terrible giant arrived

Saying “Hello little kid, Fee Fo Fi”

Well, there just wasn't time to hide under my bed

So, I opened up my mouth and this is what I said

CHORUS

Well, the giant stopped and listened to me sing

Then across his face, there spread a silly grin

Then the rhino started dancing up and down the street

While all the little birds were chirping to the beat!

Then suddenly a shadow crossed the sky

As a huge pterodactyl came flapping by

With a horrid noise it landed on my head

So, I opened up my mouth and this is what I said

CHORUS

Well, I could go on and on all day

But instead, well, I think I'll simply say
