

ROCKY SHORE WONDERS

Words and Music by Linda Arnold

The rocky shore is a rough and tumble
Rough and tumble place to be
So many wonders to explore
Along the Splash Zone's rocky shore

Look at the sea urchins with their spines
They feel just like ocean porcupines
There's a sea cucumber, the kind you don't peel
And look over there, it's a monkey-faced eel!

The rocky shore is a rough and tumble
Rough and tumble place to be
So many wonders to explore
Along the Splash Zone's rocky shore

There's a moonglow anemone
A silver surfperch and an abalone
Different kinds of algae
Red, green, and brown
And little hermit crabs
Skittering around

The rocky shore is a rough and tumble
Rough and tumble place to be
So many wonders to explore
Along the Splash Zone's rocky shore

Hear the black-footed penguins bray
It's fun to watch them swim and play

The rocky shore is a rough and tumble
Rough and tumble place to be
So many wonders to explore
Along the Splash Zone's rocky shore

Colorful sea stars, barnacles, too
Gumboot chitons that stick like glue
Mussels and snails, little gunnelfish
Everything an ocean scientist would wish

The rocky shore is a rough and tumble
Rough and tumble place to be
So many wonders to explore
Along the Splash Zone's rocky shore
